

2003 LINCOLN NAVIGATOR

LOOK INSIDE THE 2003 NAVIGATOR: THE KING OF THE ROAD REDECORATES THE PALACE.

From the outside, the 2003 Navigator is unmistakable: It's still the definitive expression of a luxury SUV, with a bold style that instantly makes it the recognized ruler of any road in its path, paved or otherwise. Now step inside. Satin-nickel accents, leather seating surfaces and American Walnut Burl integrate to form a more refined, more modern interior. It's Navigator luxury taken to a whole new level.

ACCESS TO POWER. Navigator now comes with an available power liftgate that opens at the touch of a button. Available power running boards silently extend when you open the door, and retract when you close it. And the seats in Navigator's expansive third row fold flat by simply pressing a button. Up front, power affords comfort and convenience with power-adjustable brake and accelerator pedals, and available climate-controlled heated or cooled seats for the driver and front passenger. After all, Navigator is as purposeful as it is pampering.

THE INSTRUMENTS OF POWER. For 2003, Navigator rewards drivers and passengers with power and comfort. The 5.4-liter V8 delivers 300 hp¹ and 355 lb-ft of torque.¹ White lighting illumination of the instrument cluster aids readability. New rack-and-pinion steering and the available Advance Trac™ Stability Enhancement System aid control. A combination of independent rear and four-corner air suspension offers a new standard of ride, comfort and control on road and off. And the list of available comfort, convenience, and entertainment features rivals any in the luxury vehicle world, including satellite navigation and a DVD rear entertainment system. Others include:

STANDARD FEATURES • EXTENDED REAR PARK ASSIST • INDEPENDENT REAR AIR SUSPENSION
6-CD DIRECTFEED STEREO SYSTEM • POWER FOLD/ADJUST/HEAT/MEMORY EXTERIOR MIRRORS
