

“If you can’t run with the big dogs, stay on the porch.”

Introducing

HARDRUNNER™

A limited edition
AeroMax 120.

Every now and then something special comes along.

A fighter plane that 50 years later still brings to mind the spirit of the pilots who flew them.

The battles may be over, but the war of Independents goes on.

That's why you're out there running too many miles a week, working for too little pay. It's hard. But it keeps you free.

Help is on the way. With a limited edition AeroMax 120 from Ford. Designed for a special breed—the trucker that runs 300 miles before noon, just to work up an appetite.

We call it HardRunner.

It can't shorten the miles. But it can make the ride a whole lot easier.

We're off the porch.

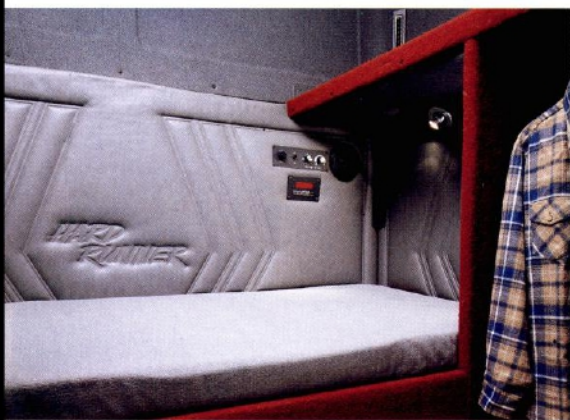

HARD RUNNER

is just what the driver ordered. We know. Because we've been asking. Over and over. Wherever truckers get together.

You spec'd the cab: leather and cloth seats with adjustable driver lumbar support. Tilt/telescopic steering column for extra knee room. Plush carpeting, wall to wall.

But listen to this. The premium sound system, with two amplifiers and ten speakers, produces 145 killer watts of whatever gets you home.

The 60-inch AeroBullet sleeper features over 7 feet of stand-up room. A Backsaver mattress. Separate heater and a/c systems. TV power plug and antenna.

The driver-friendly instrument panel includes a dash-mounted beverage holder. CB radio platform and air suspension dump valve. Plus easy to read gauge clusters.

Run hard.
Ride easy...
it's the Ford attitude.

