2000 ESCORT

*The light is green and the road is open. That's what's great about a brand new millennium.
So much is out ahead.*

*The ramp to the main-

Everything's cool. Very cool.

A lot of style. A lot of fun. Still a great value. That's Ford Escort. The tunes are furnished by the standard AM/FM stereo radio with cassette player. Premium speakers mean big sound. Also standard is a rear window defroster (to get you out of those "tough scrapes"). Escort fits your lifestyle and your budget. That's called a no brainer.

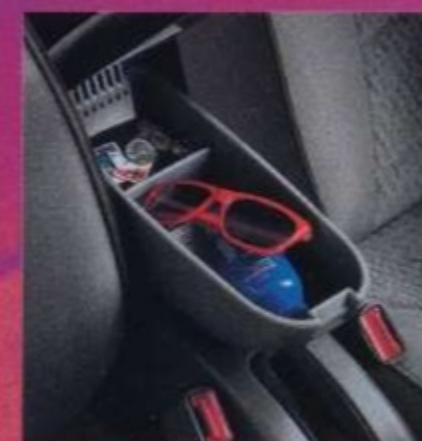

Escort is designed to provide plenty of comfort and convenience. Its five-passenger interior includes a handy console with cupholders for both the front and rear passengers.

Dual Second Generation airbags are standard protection. Always wear your safety belt and secure children in the rear seat.

Childproof rear door locks can be engaged to prevent children from opening doors from inside.

An auxiliary console, available as a Ford Dealer-installed accessory, features a padded armrest and extra storage space.

The integrated control panel includes the standard AM/FM stereo/cassette as well as the climate system. Controls are large and easy to operate.

Optional dual outside power mirrors are remote controlled for convenience of adjustment and feature a right-hand convex lens for added driver visibility.

The standard 60/40 split/fold rear seat provides exceptional passenger and cargo versatility.

Safety was a primary concern in the design of Ford Escort. Its safety cell construction provides protection in a frontal, side or rear impact. In the doors, protective intrusion beams contribute an added measure of structural integrity.

To help the driver avoid accidents in the first place, available anti-lock brakes provide steering control while braking under most adverse conditions, even on wet or slippery surfaces.

Rigid one-piece bodysides work in concert with the independent Quadralink suspension system to maximize the smoothness of the ride for Escort's relatively short wheelbase.

The geometry of the independent Quadralink rear suspension system provides excellent road-hugging control during acceleration, cornering and braking, yet also produces a smooth, comfortable ride.

Precise rack-and-pinion steering, combined with power for reduced effort, creates ease of maneuverability.
